

Chat Transcript: Mobile Technologies for Libraries Webinar with Jason Griffey for LibraryLinkNJ
March 15, 2011

Jennifer Breuer:I love my Droid X

Sharon Yang:What os AT&T mobile use?

Sharon Yang:ok and thanks

Mary Faith Chmiel:That's the commercial nancy madacsiretty neat

Jennifer Breuer:wow, that's amazing

Hope Preston:Holy cow!

Jennifer Breuer:i know what i want for my birthday

Joan Divor:mee toooo

Liz Burns:sweet

Mary Faith Chmiel:How much???

Joanne Roukens:how much battery life?

Jill Eisner:what does this cost?

Joan Divorrobably depends on data plan nancy madacsirice?

Hanna Blattid you guys see the tv commercial for this?

Joan Divor:no

Jennifer Servello:if phone is on dock, will dock charge phone if unit is plugged in?

Rebecca Hodd:I caught the end of the commercial and hope to see it again.

Mary Faith Chmiel:can we buy this with BTOP $$$??

Pat Morrow:My Droid has taken the place of my iTouch; except for battery use it's fine.
Read a book that showed me how to put documents on it...

Sophie Brookover 2:Here's the link:

Liz Burns:sophie, here is a more specific NFB & phone list

http://www.nfb.org/nfb/Technology_Resource_List1.asp#MP

Sophie Brookover 2:Thank you, Liz! :-)

Hanna Blatt:Very funny, guy at a security check in an airport trying to explain what this is...

nancy madacsi:How much is the monthly cost?

Joan Divor:yeah - how much is data plan monthly?

Sophie Brookover 2:Nancy, you'd have to check w/AT&T. I think they did away with their unlimited data plan recently.

Sophie Brookover 2:You pay on a tiered scale based on usage.

nancy madacsi:How does band with work with these? Is there a limit?

nancy madacsioes it cost more if you use more ban width?

Kathryn Landiso flash drives work on tablets?

Joan Divor:unreal data especially during recession

Jennifer Sidie:@Kathryn..not on the ipad...at least the original model.

Anile Martinez:Can ipad be used as phone?
Joan Divoro we see them usurping e readers?
Kathryn Landis:ok, thanks
Sophie Brookover 2:Anile, no.
Anile Martinez:thanks
Sophie Brookover 2:Not in the traditional sense -- you can do video chat, though!
Sophie Brookover 2:Or go online & make an internet phone call using Google Voice or Skype.
Matt Latham:we offer iPads for borrowing in-library that have magazine subscriptions on them
Marguerite Dugas:We have people downloading ebooks to tablets Anile Martinezoes ipad 1 have camera built in?
Marguerite Dugas:and mobile devices
Liz Burns:i have patrons who use the ipad b/c of the voiceover/increase text for books
Jennifer Sidie:no camera in ipad 1
nancy madacsi:We also have people downloading books to Ipad
Susan Clarkeople with tablets have a difficult time connecting to our WiFi network. Do they connect differently from PCs?
Jennifer Breuer:Isn't the Xoom very expensive?
Joan Walsh:I have done online weeding using the ipad
Liz Burns:isn't there an issue w/ Kindle books and the apple products? some change?
Jennifer Breuer:I heard about $1600.
Jennifer Breuer:nevermind
Joan Divor:kindle books not compatible w. overdrive...but I hear may change
Joan Divoroes it matter if your tablet and smart phone have diff operating systems?
Sophie Brookover 2:Joan, you can share files across different platforms using a cloud service like Dropbox (www.dropbox.com)
Joan Divor:thx sophie
Peter Bromberg:Loves me my dropbox!
nancy madacsi:Are they planning to add functions that will let a student type a research apper? in APA style?
Sophie Brookover 2:Nancy, were you referring to a particular tablet? Or just asking about tablets in general?
nancy madacsi:Tablets/Smartphone in general
Joan Divor:There are no barriers to using library online resources/databases on these tablets, right?
nancy madacsi:Is it an app
Joan Divor:unreal
Joan Divor:what % are free?
Joan Divor:and Apple gets a cut of $ right?
Kathryn Landis:so, no freebies then?
Sophie Brookover 2:no free submissions to app store, but many apps are free.
Liz Burns:isn't this 30 percent the issue now w/ kindle apps?

Joan Divor:Guys w. ipads: do you no longer need a laptop - does ipad take its place?
Kelly Garwood:games
nancy madacsi:game
Rebecca Hodd:games
Liz Burns:most popular app....plants v zombies
Jennifer Servello:games
Mary Faith Chmiel:No, you're paying for Apple to be the distributor - they're providing your conduit (ie like an old-time book distributor!)
nancy madacsi:angry birds
Martha Hickson:games: angry birds
Jennifer Breuer:angry birds
Joan Divor:angry birds
Lisa Cohn:music
Nathalia Bermudez:social networking
Mary Faith Chmiel:YEAH!
Jennifer Breuer:books!? yay!
Lisa Cohn:yay
Hope Preston:Wow!
Liz Burns:ha ha, team book
Joan Divor:WOW! Here is an opportunity guys!
Rebecca Hodd:Couldn't prove it by our students. Amazing!
Kathryn Landis:There's hope for this country yet.
Jennifer Sidie:@Joan...the ipad hasn't completely taken the place of my computer.
Joan Divor:thanx 4 ur answer
Lanora Melillo:@Joan I decided not to get the ipod because I'm a flash drive girl
Lanora Melillo:*ipad
Joan Divor:ipad - no place for flash drive on ipad?
Jennifer Sidie:no
Joan Divor:ok thanks
Joan Divor:thanks for the advice!
Lanora Melillo:I use dropbox too, but I like carrying my info with me
Joan Divor:Yeah - if you carry it with you, there's always that lovely possibility that you'll lose it someplace...wouldn't want to miss that! ;-0
Joan Divor:i mean ;-)
Lanora Melillo: very true.
Jennifer Sidie:LOL..our lost & found is full of flash drives
Joan Divor:Are these easy to create for NON-programmers??
Joan Divor:not for a really long time
Joan Divor:yes, a while ago
Rebecca Hodd:An interview with an 11 yr old App builder...asked why? to be famous...not to make money...HMMM.
Joan Divor:but the $$ will follow...
Rebecca Hodd:His were all free

Liz Burns:well, the 11 year old doesn't have to worry about the rent right now. so fame is better/

Jennifer Sidie:married to a programmer...got to get him on this :-)

Joan Divor:that's cause his parents are supporting him now

Liz Burns:sophie, does LLNJ have a webinar planned on creating/making apps?

Joan Divor:Liz has a good idea there!

Jennifer Breuer:that would be great

Hanna Blatt:Should each library write it's own app or should it be thru the system?

Joanne Roukens:Liz - that's a topic we've been discussing. We wanted to have Jason first before we proceed.

Liz Burns:joanne, great! I'm loving the LLNJ webinars!

Joan Divor:maybe we can cooperate and SHARE apps

Joanne Roukens:Yes, Joan! We've been discussing this.

Joan Divor:Canu give some examples of "rich experiences" relative to libraries?

Peter Bromberg:SPL and Topeka/Shawnee use Boopsie. Gorgeous apps. But expensive. :-(

Peter Bromberg:Boopsie cost: $6000 to develop app; $4000 annual fee thereafter.

Joan Divor:ouch

Mary Faith Chmiel:WHAT???

Jennifer Sidie:wow

Hope Preston:That's incredible!

Kathryn Landis:copywrite nightmare!

Joan Divor:publishers will freak out nancy madacsi:will make it totally worth it

Joan Divor:that would mean no more borrowing

nancy madacsi:but you only need one physical object and patron can create their own digital object

Kathryn Landis:Now THAT I want a piece of!

Rebecca Hodd:LOL

Joanne Roukens:LOL!

Joan Divor:we gotta fight that #3

KathyMulholland:and I'm over 35...!

Joanne Roukens:You bet, Joan!

Joan Divor:I'm way over 35

KathyMulholland:I like tech; the geek factor keeps us young....maybe.

Joan Divor:WE are at the 2.5%; but our budgets are laggards

Lisa Cohn:my patrons are still using stone tablets and chisels

Peter Bromberg:We need to have them volunteer to teach classes :-)

Joanne Roukens:Love it!!

Kelly Garwood:groovy

Joan Divor:OWER TO THE PEOPLE

KathyMulholland:Burnt orange, avocado green, harvest gold!

Liz Burns:what is going on with her outfit?

Joanne Roukens:It's the latest in fabulous aprons!

Linda Hoffman:I think it's an apron

Hope Preston:Is it a fancy apron?

Joan Divor:june cleaver

Mary Faith Chmiel:should have been selling the apron instead!

Kathryn Landis:She made an apron out of leftover wallpaper.

Melissa Hasbrouck:Her red shirts look like something from Star Trek

KathyMulholland:soo...avoid honeywell but not honey comb.

Jill Eisner:Looks like Betty Draper's kitchen

KathyMulholland:Cute.

Hope Preston:This was very interesting!

Joanne Roukens:please ask your questions of Jason!

Anile Martinez:Are there sites where app use for libraries are shared?

Sharon Yango yo you have the link to a recording of this presentation?

Joan Divor:Can u give some examples of "rich experiences" relative to libraries?

Linda Hoffmanropbox.com???

Joanne Roukens:Sharon - that will be sent out soon. I first have to prep it.

KathyMulholland:Recommendations for a low-tech (overall) library to move into Library 2.0 in terms of tech? Baby steps level advice.

nancy madacsi:What would be the top priority service?

Joanne Roukens:That would be great.

Sharon Yang:OK. Thanks. I am waiting to see a recording of this. This is a very good presentation. I knew nothing about mobile nancy madacsi:Could you send us a list of you examples?

Dale Spindel:Would love a part II of this program to actually show us some apps that would make sense for typical public library use.

Jennifer Sidie:agree with Dale

Emily Skrezec:jason thank you so much. This was really great and I am going to be able to talk to several tech people in my school about this and how we can jump ahead of the curve

Joanne Roukens:http://www.libsuccess.org/index.php?title=M-Libraries#Mobile_applications

Anile Martinez:Use for high school libraries?

Joan Divor:thx

Joan Divor:Library cooperative should help us form a skunkworks for developing, sharing, and piloting apps

Susan Clarke:people with tablets have a difficult time connecting to our WiFi network. Do they connect differently from PCs?

nancy madacsi:Since apps are so expensive to develop, would this be a consortium project

Rebecca Hodd:Gotta go. Thanks so much.

Joan Divor:yes, exactly

Susan Clark:iPad

Anne Meany:Thank you.
Susan Clark:They find the secure network, not the unsecured one.
Joan Divor:maybe njsl can help
Martha Perry Liu:Thank you!
Mary Faith Chmiel:thanks!!
Jennifer Sidie:terrific presentation...thank you!
Anile Martinez:Thank you
Liz Burns:thanks
Richard Potter:thanks
Jill Eisner:Thanks!
Nathalia Bermudez:great webinar - waiting for part II
zana etter:wonderul presentation..thanks!
